

Iron Lung Triumphs Over Death in Battle Vaged Calgary Hospital

DEVICE KEEPS TURNER VALLEY YOUTH ALIVE

Machine From Edmonton Enables Paralysis Victim To Breathe

CALGARY, July 23—A battle against death, fought for seven hours to save the life of a 36-year-old infantile paralysis victim, succeeded in the Calgary isolation hospital last night.

After an eight-and-a-half-hour emergency crew had administered artificial respiration, throughout the afternoon and early evening, Bill Malley, brought by car from his home, 20 miles north of Calgary, was placed in an "iron lung." The 600-pound mechanical lung was brought from Edmonton, sped the 204 miles to Calgary by truck.

FEELS TALK

"Then, that feels good," he can breathe now. It sure feels funny to talk," young Malley told hospital attendants and the volunteer crew of firemen, policemen and a newspaper reporter.

Those were the first coherent words he had uttered in 10 hours, spoken shortly after he had been put in the "lung."

He is the third paralysis victim in the local isolation hospital. From Black Diamond, all town of Turner Valley, where public meetings have been held, the area and all places of assembly closed in an effort to halt spread of the dread disease, two young patients were brought earlier this week.

There are three cases under quarantine and several children under observation in the towns of Black Diamond and Turner Valley, 45 miles southwest of here. No cases have been reported in the city of Calgary.

WORK IN RELAYS

Volunteer crews worked in three-hour relays to keep Malley alive until the arrival of the iron lung from the Alberta department of health.

Half an hour after he had been placed in the "lung" by Dr. W. E. Ingram, attending physician, pronounced his condition "satisfactory."

Covering the 204 miles from Edmonton in five hours, the truck made the iron lung arrive at the capital city at 6:45 Friday night. Unloaded by waiting volunteers, the machine was driven to the hospital, where it was put into operation at 8:15 p.m.

ANSWERS FATHER

Within a few minutes after being placed in the lung, Malley, appearing greatly relieved, spoke to his father and his father, C. F. Malley, a low voice.

"How do you feel now?" asked the father.

"I feel all right, dad. Where's mother?"

"I'll be back soon with mother."

At the first time the lung had been used in Calgary, two years ago it was rushed here from Toronto, where it had been assembled at the hospital the patient, a young girl, was in the hospital. When the young girl's condition began to improve, the lung was removed. The iron lung was then required below action, was necessary for him to breathe.

How Are You Coming Along With Your Work?

AGRICULTURE URGED WATCH HORSES FOR WATERING

A quantity of commercial vaccine has been ordered and is expected to reach Edmonton early next week. This vaccine will be released to qualified veterinary surgeons immediately.

USE WELLS

"Until such time as supplies of this vaccine are available, we recommend that horse owners throughout the province be urged to draw water from wells or other sources of clean water, and to avoid watering their horses from stagnant ponds or other sources of dirty water."

The question as to whether the disease is a contagious one has frequently been asked, in which case attention should be brought to the fact that as a rule only one or two horses contract the disease on one farm, leading to the belief that the infection does not spread rapidly from one animal to another, but as a precautionary measure, carcasses of animals should be burned or properly buried. This policy has already been advocated whether an animal died from a contagious disease or not.

"Horse owners detecting any of the above mentioned symptoms, should communicate with the nearest veterinary surgeon, who will instruct them as to the proper treatment to follow."

SALTS RECOMMENDED

"Should however, the services of a veterinary surgeon be available, the animal may be given drinking water containing a 6 percent solution of sodium chloride, and about the same strength of water, and enemas of the same strength should be given. If the animal cannot swallow, liquids should be given by syringe."

"If the sick animal is found to be suffering from dehydration, developed frequently makes a satisfactory recovery, providing the animal with clean water to drink, and we wish to point out that although the horses to drink from should be avoided at this time."

Vancouver Island's Forest Fire Doubles Its Area of Devastation

Coal-Mining Towns Endangered When Blaze Goes Inland

Picked Loggers Battle to Check Inferno—Fire Extends Over 100,000 Acres—Seamen Help

COURTENAY, B.C., July 23.—Vancouver Island's tremendous forest fire doubled its area of devastation in eight brief hours Friday and increased its threat to settlements on a half-dozen fronts.

At 200 picked loggers sprayed streams of water over the hooting village of Meadquaters to the west of a subside that was roaring through 400,000 feet of bucked timber, the main inferno struck inland, "crawling" through the tree-tops of Courtenay Hill towards the forest wilderness of Forbush Plateau.

As the flames advanced, they increased the potential threat to the coal-mining towns of Bevin and Cumberland, just south of Courtenay. The three towns, population centers of the central part of the island, would only be threatened, however, by a change in wind direction, forest officials said.

Already the blaze covered an estimated 100,000 acres. Accurate estimates of the fire's area were impossible, however, because of a great shroud of smoke, extending 100 feet into the air and growing ashes on the streets of Vancouver, 100 miles to the west. The smoke darkened the city's skies like black thunder clouds.

BLAZE BREAKS OUT

The great fire which broke out again in sectors where, for the last two days, it had been temporarily under control, spread 20 miles to the north, residents of Campbellton were warned to evacuate their homes as the fire sprang up again three miles north of the settlement in second growth slash.

The Canadian destroyer Fraser landed 20 seamen at Bevin, 100 miles desolated them to Bevin as a forest brigade to meet blazes burning from living sparks. Another 30 men stood ready to go ashore and act as fire fighters wherever they were needed.

In the Quilna area where the fire which destroyed the fishing resort of Forbes Landing yesterday had again broken out and a billowing through 10,000 feet of slash timber, property of Elks River Lumber Company, the fire destroyed the home of Arthur Cobb, manager of the company.

JUNES GUARD

The same blaze also jumped a guard at Elks Falls and 75 men were dispatched there to guard the Elks Falls park from the burning.

But it was in the south where the fire was most tremendous. Forty miles of forest timber burned ready fuel 15 miles north of Meadquaters, and billions of feet of virgin trees in one of the province's largest tracts of standing forest apparently was to be lost for the next few days.

Forest officials said they were confident they could save Headquarters and the other camps of the island's forest service. The present wind was pushing the fire westward into more valuable property.

Throughout the district between Meadquaters, Courtenay, Bevin and Cumberland were dozens of families of settlers. Many were advised to leave their homes, about 30 families have already moved into Courtenay.

Since its start about a week ago north of Campbell river, the fire has covered an estimated 25 miles of timber country, a flaming army advancing in width from three to five miles.

TEXANS WILL TODAY CHOOSE FOR GOVERNOR

O'Daniel, McGraw, Thompson and Hunter Most Favored Candidates

AUSTIN, Tex., July 23.—Texans will pick their favorite today in a democratic primary election. The contest is a close one, with O'Daniel, McGraw, Thompson and Hunter most favored.

More than 1,000,000 citizens will vote today when W. Lee O'Daniel, who stole the vote in the 1936 election, faces a tremendous voting support, or whether the crowds simply thrived for music and prefer some one else as their candidate.

OPINIONS DIFFER

With all except two of the dozen who are governors certain to pass out of the picture, there is a sharp difference of opinion which may decide the outcome of the race.

Nearly all speculation revolved about attorney general William McGraw, Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the interstate oil compact, and a professional politician, who never has received less than 250,000 votes in a state-wide race, and O'Daniel, the showman.

ADVOCATES PENSION

O'Daniel, unknown two months ago, except as the sponsor of a bill to increase the pension of the state's military and naval veterans, is now a leading candidate for governor.

British-German Economic Pact Believed Near

Great Britain's Diplomatic Moves to Guard Peace of Europe—Shift From Mussolini to Concentrate on Hitler

By RICHARD McMILLAN
British United Press—Exclusive Cable To The Bulletin.

LONDON, July 23.—Usually well informed sources said Wednesday that as a result of recent diplomatic moves, negotiations for a British-German economic agreement might soon be possible. It was added that some hope was held that, if economic negotiations were held successfully, it might be possible to make them the basis for eventual far-reaching political negotiations.

LONDON, July 18.—Great Britain's diplomatic moves to guard peace of Europe is undergoing a quiet but significant change of pace that may decide the outcome of the shift toward Germany.

The new backstage diplomatic developments have shifted British attention from Italian Premier Benito Mussolini to his partner, the Fascist-Nazi axis, Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, in an effort to negotiate a settlement with Germany.

PRIME OBJECTIVE

Circumstances, particularly the prospect of a long delay in ending the Spanish civil war—were responsible for the shift toward Germany. Many before the new Anglo-Italian friendship treaty goes into effect, but a deal with Hitler has been Chamberlain's prime objective from the beginning.

Chamberlain's program has met with major difficulties at almost every turn. Political foes at home have persistently threatened to turn him out of office. In the past, he has been accused of taking advantage of Italy's good bargaining position, has held out for a high price in return for Fascist cooperation. Continuation of the Spanish war has prevented the Anglo-Italian pact from being effected and thus weakened the key-note of Chamberlain's program.

PREMIER TYMID

The British prime minister has sought every way to put the treaty into effect without awaiting withdrawal of Italian volunteers from Spain, but strong opposition at home has prevented such action.

That failure has aroused anger in Rome and there has been some danger that the key-note of the

What's New On The ... RECORDS

BEING A REVIEW OF THE BEST NOW BEING TRANSCRIBED FOR GRAMOPHONES

By JOHN OLIVER

Along with the latest parcel of RCA Victor records, there came to hand the latest catalogue from the Victor studio, containing, according to the cover, "the world's greatest library of recorded music." And are the records themselves are taken into consideration, it is well worth while to pause for a moment and scan the catalogue, as all record devotees are interested not only in the new records, but in the treasure-house of the Victor organization.

The cover of the catalogue is most attractive and contains a group of pictures of leading favorite artists.

UP-TO-DATE
This attractive, handsomely printed catalogue lists all Victor records released up to and including the May, 1938, supplement. The catalogue contains 166 pages, as against 128 pages in the last issue, which is a testimonial to the growth of the record-revival movement.

Thus, there are 46 more pages of the best in recorded music. In this volume there are articles on its use on Victor's high fidelity recordings; Victor needles and the RCA Victor record library. A new feature is the complete and ready reference list on the Victor organization and Victor artists. This compact volume is brimful of the kind of information that is desired and is a splendid production in every way.

Incidentally, the range of material covered by Victor recordings and the wide variety of artists of many distinctions, shows the extent of the appeal made by Victor.

GREAT INTEREST
Of exceptional interest is the "recording by the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the baton of Eugene Ormandy, of Liszt's Symphony No. 2, Les Preludes. Few recordings have had such color, such widely ranging dynamics, such contrasts of mood and such orchestral splendors as this.

Last year to the world the musical form known as the "Symphonic Poem" through which poetry can be better expressed in music than in the classical symphony. During his sojourn in Paris from 1830 to 1835, Liszt heard "Victor Hugo recite his own poem 'Ce qu'est l'enfer' sur la Montagne. So potent was his suggestion that Liszt hesitated for years on the possibility of reproducing it in a suitable musical form.

But, it was not until he settled in Weimar in 1847 that he implemented his long-fostered plan and the Hugo poem was used as the fundamental basis of the first of Liszt's series of 12 symphonic poems which bore an unmistakable influence in the development of music since that time.

Les Preludes the third in this series of 12 poems, was begun at Marseilles in 1845 and was completed at Weimar in 1846. At that point it received its first performance four years later.

QUOTES FROM
On the score there is a quotation from Lamartine's Meditations Portugaise, of which the following is a free translation:

"What is our life but a series of Preludes to that unknown song of which death strikes the first solemn note? Love is the magic dawn of every existence, but where is the life in which the first enjoyment of bliss is not dispensed by some tempest? His illusions scattered as by some fatal breath, its altar consumed as by a thunderbolt? What soul thus cruelly hurt, but seeks to repose with its memory."

NINE CANADIANS FOR JULY COURT

LONDON, July 23.—Canadian visitors to London are not so many as in the last two years but those who have not been frightened by wars and rumors of wars are thoroughly enjoying parties of a brilliant season.

Ten Canadian women will be presented at the Court of July 7 and nine will attend the evening party of July 12 when formal evening dress will again be worn at Buckingham Palace instead of the presentation gowns with shoulder trains and collures of veils and feathers.

On July 7 Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the high commissioner, will present: Miss Genevieve Brannon of Ottawa, who has been attending Lady Margaret Hall, Oxford; Madame Albert Dupuis, Mademoiselle Marie-Joseph Dupuis and Miss Madeleine Trudeau of Montreal; Madame George Vanier, Montreal wife of Col. Vanier, secretary of Canada House, London; Madame Langdon Wilks of Langdon Hall, Blair, Ont., and her daughter, Miss Catherine and Miss Anne Wilks; Miss Mary Goldie of Galt, Ont., at present attached to the secretarial office of the Dominion Office in London; Miss Beatrice Hodgson of West Vancouver.

With this in mind Liszt whose mastery of total painting and the art of orchestration, was tremendous, composed a work that has won a permanent place in the repertory of the world's great orchestras.

Given a masterpiece to start with, the Philadelphia Orchestra plays superlatively and the result is a contribution to the record library that will stand out as one of the finest and most artistic works to date. The recording engineers have done an excellent job and the whole is a set well worth including in any collection.

SEEK TREASURES OF LUTINE WRECK

TERSCHELLING ISLAND, Holland, July 23.—The Dutch dredger, Karmakia is engaged in North Sea waters off this island in an attempt to recover the remainder of the Lutine treasure.

The Lutine—whose bell heralds announcements of disasters or finding of missing ships at Lloyd's—sank off this island in a storm Oct. 10, 1799, with a loss of 270 lives and a gold and silver worth 2,000,000 ($10,000,000).

Equipped with tongs, nippers and landing-cribs the Dutch recovered $3,000 ($15,000), but operations were discontinued in 1801. The Karmakia is fitted with special dredges to drag the wreck to the surface bit by bit.

Major and Minor Notes

Music has played an important feature in the annual fair of the Edmonton Exhibition Association which will be brought to a close on Saturday night. There has been music on all sides some of high quality and some not so good. Many of those who have attended the performance on the platform in front of the grandstand have remarked on the excellent band that played for the Folies Internationale which was the main attraction.

It is of interest to note that all members of the band, save three, the conductor, the first chair trumpet and drummer, were Edmonton musicians. Gathered from the ranks of professional musicians here, they held a rehearsal last Sunday and on Monday they went into action as though they had been playing the show steadily. The boys themselves didn't think it was anything out of the ordinary, as some of them had played for the Orpheum and Pantages vaudeville circuits when they ran regularly here and playing a difficult show for such stars as Albertina Bass, Tom Patricola and others with one brief rehearsal was a weekly matter with them.

But the excellence of the playing this week could not but be noticed and many a patron of the grandstand show was heard to remark on the fine performance of the band.

The Edmonton musicians in the band were: Clifford Wright, Leonard Dear, Charles T. Hustwick, C. Shaw and J. Chadwick, trumpeter; Albert Holt, Max Frick and Norman Clark, clarinets; A. Dobbie and A. E. Samuels, horns; Henry Weiser and Walt Jackson, trombones; Jimmy Horn, Graydon W. Tipp and Frank Parks, saxophones; J. Robble, euphonium, and A. Robert Wright and Milton Tipp, tubas.

The grand exhibition parade of Tuesday morning, saw and heard something like 17 bands in action. They varied from the long-established 48th Battalion and Edmonton Fusiliers bands to the recently formed boys' bugle band, which gave a very good account of itself. A parade is part of a dull affair without music and depends to a large extent for its success on the playing of the bands.

On this occasion, while there were 17 bands in action, at the point this writer stood to watch the parade, few played near that point. Seeing the parade lists a comparatively short time a little extra effort might be put forth to keep the music going as steadily as possible. This is said in full realization of the difficulties of playing on the march and in the great heat. Playing on the march is specially trying. However, the more music on a parade the better.

Incidentally it would be good practice for the bands to play more on the march and practice more playing while in action. Those who have heard the Coldstream Grenadiers or any of the other bands of the Brigade of Guards playing on the march of the Horse Guards or Life Guards playing while mounted, will have noticed the smoothness of the playing and uniformity of tone, with an almost total absence of wrong notes. Less experienced bands, unused to playing on the march, by reason of the movement of the body and therefore lack of muscular control, will blow many a sour note. Therefore, bands, practice a little more playing while you march.

The number of younger hands, including many girls, in the various organizations was noticeable. The rural bands seem more inclined to accept the fair sex—maybe the fairer sex in rural parts are keener on playing. It was good to notice the young people taking to instrumental playing and singing well for the future. Band and orchestral playing is one feature that the exhibition audience can well enjoy.

POLICE RADIO IS GIVEN TEST HERE SATURDAY

Commissioners Witness Demonstration Of Two-Way Service

Possibility that Edmonton will soon have a fleet of police patrol cars equipped with two-way radio which will permit them to remain in constant communication with police headquarters, was soon Saturday as officials spent Saturday morning testing radio equipment.

Special serial has been installed on the top of the Civic Block and the fixed broadcasting and receiving sets were installed in a room on the top floor of the Civic Block. The movable set was installed in a car belonging to the officials of the company whose equipment is being tested. Chief A. G. Shute was a passenger in the car with company officials.

LISTEN IN—Those who remained in the Civic Block were Mayor John W. Fry, Commissioner R. J. Gibb, Staff Inspector Matt Blackwood and Sergeant-Alan Riddell, of the city police.

The test car drove to all parts of the city, passing beyond the weathered walls of the Civic Block, but communication with the station at the Civic Block was maintained at all times.

It is claimed that installation of this equipment in police cars will be of great value to the efficient service, especially in night patrol, in traffic patrol, in the case of fire, and in the case of emergency. The equipment can be installed for about $1,000.

Other tests have been made successfully previously with equipment of another type. Radio equipment is used in nearly all cities in Canada and the United States and is recognized by police authorities as "the only thing."

Just Another Record Day

Ho hum! Even Manager Percy Abbott is getting tired of saying it, but Friday was just another record-breaking day at the Edmonton Exhibition. They clocked past the turnstiles in greater numbers than ever, packed and jam-packed the grandstand for both the afternoon's races and the evening platform program and fireworks, and in general made a big day of it. As usual, The Bulletin's cameraman was here, there and everywhere. He happened along when Jackie "Barney Oldfield" Hopkins was out to break the world's fastest auto race record in No. 1 above, and then he wandered into the grandstand to hang the crowd on its heels as the bangs thundered down the stretch in the feature race of the day. He also happened along when the crowd was in the grandstand to see the little brother is up in the Ferns wheel, and he looks a little while about the girls, but it all ended right and he got down.

YOUNG PEOPLE DECLARE FAIR HUGE SUCCESS

Junior department of the Edmonton Exhibition inaugurated in 1935, was unanimously declared a huge success Friday evening by the 40 boys and 30 girls selected from the 150 applications of Edmonton district to spend this week in Edmonton.

Two buildings of the old Cromwell school were used to house the young people, who resided in Edmonton from Monday until Friday, under the auspices of the Wheat Pool, provincial and dominion departments of agriculture and the local exhibition association. All expenses, with the exception of their transportation, were paid by the sponsor.

W. A. Elliott, director of youth training for the unemployed in Alberta, was in charge of arrangements. He took the group on a trip through the midway, evening on the grandstand, theatre party, and banquet at which the members were the guests of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Peter Wylie, district agriculturalist at Thorby, managed the boys' section, and Miss Eva Lee of Edmonton in charge of the girls. They were assisted by C. G. Wood, district agriculturalist at Westlock, and Miss J. Matthews of Edmonton.

The Inquiring Reporter

With bicycle accidents on the increase in this city, The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter wonders if something could not be done to prevent more of the same kind of tragedy, as has cast its shadow over Edmonton recently.

"What would you suggest be done to prevent accidents with cyclists on the highways of the province, to put several citizens today. Here are the replies:

JIM EDWARDS, manager: I understand that there is a by-law under the effects of every bicycle should have a tail light, and this would be my opinion, that if this law were more rigidly enforced, fewer accidents would take place. So many accidents happen after dark that it is almost impossible to see a bicycle until it is too late for the rider to be safe for him.

GEORGE HADLOCK, traveler: I have often seen men and boys on bicycles after dark, when driving on the highways of the province, and it has struck me as marvellous that there are even as few accidents as we hear of. The way some of them ride, I just wonder about the time when it would be better to have them on the highways with their, with nothing to worry about in the way of traffic. If people must use a bicycle, then I think they should be given a little attention to the rules of the road.

MRS. I. V. SMITH, housewife: I have a good many grey hairs from my boys riding bicycles. I have always dreaded the time when it came for each of the four of them to have their wheels on their lives for their birthday for the way people drive nowadays—so fast, there is just any room for the bicycle, anyone than there would for the horse and buggy. They are a cheap, quick way of transportation, and the boys have a lot of fun out of them, but I don't think all of their fine points make up for the mother's anxiety, when the heart of an accident involving a person on a bicycle, and wonders if it is her boy.

HEAT REACHES 89 ON FRIDAY: SEASON'S HIGH

Most citizens testifying to the heat, clothing moved around noon, the dampness of the morning and wondered what the temperature was getting to be. Reason enough for the discomfort was the day's highest reading of 89 above, registered at 3:30 p.m., a new high temperature for the year, and ten degrees below the all-time high for the city, a mark of 99 above, on June 19, 1937.

After an undisturbed week of "fair and warm" forecasts, the weather prediction changed Saturday morning to "fair, and somewhat clearing," making it quite probable that the Exhibition will wind up without a hitch in the weather department.

Following breezes swept the city Friday evening, allowing heat suffrage a chance to sleep in comfort. Lowest reading during the night was 56 above, at 3 and 6 a.m. By 9 a.m. Saturday, with the sun popping in and out of clouds, the temperature was at 60 above.

Showers visited the north-north-east during Friday and Friday night, the dampness of the day, however, did not prevent the high temperature of 89 above, at 3:30 p.m., at Dawson Creek, Police Commissioner, Spirit River, Fairview, Berwyn, Peace River, Fairview and Ground. Temperatures ranged from 62 above, at Calgary, to 80 above, at Dawson Creek and Ground.

SOCIETY PAYS FAIR TRIBUTE WITH FLOWERS

Tribute to the sixtieth anniversary of the Edmonton Exhibition Association was paid this week by the Edmonton Horticultural Society in floral exhibit in the horticultural building at the fair grounds.

For fifteen years, the society has been closely connected with the exhibition board, and its display this year was a gesture of goodwill towards the exhibition association in its diamond jubilee year.

Gold and blue jubilee cornflowers, worked a colorful diamond at the apex of the display, a "ruby" being outlined in blue.

Deep blue delphinium made up the outer border, from the lower corner of the diamond, flanked in the centre by various flowering shrubs, the green was relieved by sweet williams and arbutus running in rows on either side of the display.

The centre of the exhibit was made up of brilliant bouquets, including roses, hydrangeas, peonies, scabiosa, sweet peas, roses, mums and geraniums, which were decorated with white maiden fern and baby's breath.

Purpose of this display was to show Edmonton just what kind of flowers can be grown here. A little care and patience, and a little effort will result in a display of flowers as exhibited were donated by members of the Horticultural Society.

Annual flower show of this organization will be held from August 16 to 18 inclusive.

Nova Scotia Tuna Fishing Big Sport

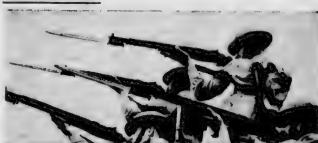

Fast growing in the interest of big game anglers is the sport of tuna fishing, in which there are now international contests staged annually off the Nova Scotian coast. The top picture shows all sizes and shapes of the stream-lined tuna, an eight-day catch secured near Wedgeport, N.S., by Michael Lerner, New York sportsman, shown standing with his guide, Tommy Gifford, of Florida. Some idea of the strenuous nature of the sport is given by the picture at the lower left, as a tuna angler reels in one of the ocean giants. Note the huge reel and heavy harness and tackle necessary for going after tuna. At the lower right, Julio Sanchez, a member of this year's Cuban team, which will compete against teams from the United States and British Empire, stands beside one of his best catches, a 601-pounder.

Party For $100,000

Newport, R.I., socialites will see about the grandest debut in their memory, if the rumored $100,000 coming-out party for 17-year-old Evelyn McLean, above, materializes. Her mother, Evelyn Walsh McLean, wealthy Washington owner of the $2,000,000 Hope diamond, denied the report, but admitted she doesn't "add up the check stubs." Mrs. McLean also said CIO leader John L. Lewis would be a guest.

England's Monarch Arrives In France

On a state visit considered a diplomatic warning of caution to the rest of Europe, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of England are pictured (across) as they arrived at Boulogne, France, after a voyage from Dover, on the Admiralty yacht Enchantress. This is first visit of a reigning British ruler to France since 1814. Study was telephoned to London, then sailed to New York.

Graceful British Empire Champion

Among the 200 competitors who vied for championship honors at the British women's championship at White City recently, none was more proficient than Miss Dorothy Osborn, pictured here negotiating the high jump. Miss Osborn was second in the last Olympic Games at Berlin and triumphed over all the British Empire jumpers in the games at Sydney, Australia, last spring. The English jumper used the scissors method of getting over the bar rather than the "swallow roll" favored by many jumpers on the American continent. This action shot was taken during the White City meet where the British girls were also holding for nomination on the English team that competes in Vienna in August.

Buchan Lads

Bound for distant, widely separated parts of Canada, the Hon. John (right) and the Hon. Alastair Buchan, sons of the Governor-General Lord Tweedsmuir, landed at Quebec from the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain. The former, on the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company, sailed on the Nasopie for Cape Dorset, Baffin Land, to remain for a year. The latter, the youngest member of Lord Tweedsmuir's family, went to the Calgary Stampede, and will pass several weeks as a ranch hand on Ranch 44 near the Alberta-Montana border.

Airplanes New Hazards To Motorists

Motorists have to watch their step while driving near Didsbury, Yorkshire. Airplanes of the Royal Air Force suddenly pop out across the road, only a few feet above the ground, aiming for a landing on the Didsbury airfield. The photo shows a motor car pulled up suddenly to allow a big Air Force craft right-of-way as it aims the hedges on its approach to the field.

Officials of Ducks Unlimited report that more than 34,000 ducks have been counted in Alberta all ready this week. Reports so far have been from only three sections of the province—Foothills and the central lake district and west central lake district—and will continue until an estimate of the entire duck population of the province has been made.

Textile Strikers Will Lose Jobs

QUEBEC, July 23.—Provincial police patrolled the Dominion Textile Company mill at nearby St. Grégoire, north of Montreal, following arrest of four strikers for assault on two company officers last week. The plant reopened Thursday, but there were jobs for only one of the normal 1,800 workers. Plant superintendent William Flannery said the 76 strikers would lose their jobs.

Sea-Bottom Shooters Trip

THREE NOTED SEAPLANES IN N.Y. HARBOR

U.S. Government Consent Would Start Air Postal Service

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y., July 23.—The seaplanes of the three world powers landed at anchor on the north shore of Long Island today.

The British seaplane, Mercury, arrived from Freetown, Sierra Leone, after a 10-day voyage of survey flights. Britain started the trials last year.

A German seaplane drifted in to a feather-light stop Friday, ending the first of several proposed routes in a continuation of German work between New York and the Azores in 1937.

Two hours later an American flying boat, cabin crowded with passengers, rocked the visiting planes at their moorings as it ploughed the waters of Manhattan Bay on a take-off for Bermuda, a future stepping point for inter-continental transport.

GERMAN EXPLAINS

What is back of these ocean flights and when will the common citizen be able to buy a ticket to Southampton, Le Havre or Hamburg? A statement by Captain Rudolph Jahn, American representative of the German Transport Company, Lufthansa, supplied an answer in the second part of the question.

"Lufthansa," he said, "is ready to fly mail across the Atlantic whenever the American government says we may."

The United States government is not likely to grant permission until American ships are ready to carry mail. Lufthansa cannot fly until the German or French or British governments say they may.

Age Overtakes Shaw; Doctors Deprive Sage Of His Trenchant Pen

By MILTON ROSENBERG, Bulletin Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 23.—George Bernard Shaw, that indomitable scrapper, who has fought so many battles and usually won, had to admit himself at least temporarily beaten the other day by none other than—old Anne Bennett.

The world's greatest living dramatist, who will be 82 on next July 26, has always seemed a sort of Peter Pan who would never grow old. It is true that in the past few years the snow gathered in his beard and hair until the famous fox was completely hidden. But the six feet, odd inches of him stood as tall and straight and unbending as a Norway pine.

TAKES CHILL

His eyes sparkled with youth. His voice was firm and resonant. His mental faculties were at their full. His gifts of wit and repartee at their most brilliant. He was exhibiting a lot of the vitality a man could have who neither smoked nor drank strong liquor, nor ate red meat.

But a month or so ago a change seemed to come over him. He was the principal antagonist when the site for the proposed National Theatre in London was chosen. He stood hunched over in a child-like pose with his head bowed and his hands clasped in prayer. He was a paler than before. Not long after he called in his physician who found he was suffering from a form of a m. m. m. which required immediate treatment.

His doctor ordered that, in addition to a course of insulin, he must have absolute rest and quiet. He was not to do much talking, and he was a great talker, and a brilliant one. He must not read newspapers (and he is very up to date), and he must not attempt any writing of any kind.

KEPT SILENT

Secret of his illness was well-kept until the other day. Just before he consulted his doctor, he completed the last act of his new play for the premiere in August 1.

ADULTS IN INDIA STRONG ON MILK

NEW DELHI, India, July 23.—A survey of seven cattle-breeding stations in the Punjab, conducted by Agricultural Research, shows that milk adults drink much milk.

The survey was suggested by Lord Dunsford, who after he took office as viceroy in April, 1936.

One of the objectives of the Punjab is to increase the average production of milk per cow per year. It was found that the average production of milk per cow per year in India is 750 gallons, compared with 1,000 in the United States.

The survey also showed that milk adults drink much milk. The average consumption per day by adults is 10 gallons, compared with 5 gallons in the United States.

Gummen Exhibit Selves To Hide Car

WINNIPEG, July 23.—Four river-bankers, including a woman, displayed with $250 after a money raid on the office of the Winnipeg Lumber and Fuel Company Friday. A waiting auto pulled away from the curb, one of the men were positioned on the back bumper to prevent the car from leaving.

The woman, who was identified as a woman, was also arrested. She was found with a large sum of money in her possession.

ART IS RESULT OF SPADE WORK

CHARLOTTETOWN, July 23.—Too many people had the erroneous idea that some enormous talent was necessary before one could paint or draw, said Lady Flood in an address before members of the Maritime Art Society here.

The wife of Sir Francis Flood, British high commissioner to Canada, told the group there was a feeling among some persons that the work of a great artist was the result of a sudden inspiration. Others believed that they could not paint unless they felt like it, but an authority had said if artists waited until they felt like painting they would never paint.

An artist's work was not always the result of an inspiration, but often of the spade work that had gone before.

Find Strange New Guinea Tribesmen

MELBOURNE, Victoria, July 23.—A new high in primitive equality was reported here by E. C. Chinnery, government anthropologist, when he returned from a trip in the hinterland of New Guinea.

He found of feudal mountain villages on peaks as close to one another as the natives hurled insults across the gap.

Chinnery said he found stone palaces on mountains like those in ancient Egypt for roasting gold from quartz and declared the New Guinea natives also mummified their dead.

The code of one tribe required each youth to kill a man before he could be initiated to manhood.

Simon Pure Golf Tourney Starts Tuesday

TORONTO, July 22.—An international field of 116, including defending champion Sandy Spence, of the home club, will start match-play competition Thursday for the Canadian amateur golf championship over the par-70 London Hunt Club course at London, Ont.

Pairings announced Friday by Royal Canadian Golf Association showed 18 United States players in the entry list and only three were represented except New Zealander.

Somerhill, six-time champion and a stronger favorite than usual because he knows every nook and cranny of the Hunt Club layout, plays D. D. Higgins, an unknown from Brockville, Ont., in the first 18-hole round on Tuesday.

The field will be reduced to 64 after the first round, 32 drawing holes. The survivors will play two 18-hole rounds Wednesday and Thursday. Semi-final Friday and the final Saturday will be over the 36-hole route.

Opening day, promised at least a hot one, features matches. One of these will be between Henry Martell of Edmonton, Jeff Thompson of Burlington, Ont., one of the most consistent low-scoring in Ontario.

The United States contingent will be led by William Holt Jr., of Syracuse, N.Y., a leading amateur competitor. Holt plays Gill Walker of London in the first round.

Several outstanding challengers were listed among the 12 who drew including Jimmy Dodd, Vancouver; Manitoba's Willingham Cup squad, Allan Bost, Herb Pickard and Peter Woolley; Ontario's regulars, Ken Smith, of Regina; R. C. Storey, of Riverside, N.B., and Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto.

Ralph McNeerney, Riverside, N.B., vs. John K. Hendry, Vancouver; W. L. Procter, Edmonton, Alta., vs. William C. Perkins, Paris, Ont.; Ken Black, Vancouver, vs. J. Zouppre, Kirkland Lake, Ont.

Fred T. Jones, London, Ont., vs. B. W. Pike, Regina; Frank Willey, Vancouver, vs. J. Gillies, London, Ont.; Bill Laird, Toronto, vs. Herb Kilburn, Saskatoon.

Frank Gibson, Hamilton, Ont., vs. James Hogg, Jasper, Alta.; Archie Griddell, Weston, Ont., vs. C. D. Cowan, Vancouver; A. R. Smith, Toronto, vs. D. G. Bishop, Prince Albert, Sask.

E. S. Debra, Hamilton, Ont., vs. John Richardson, Calgary; H. Hedges, Columbus, O., vs. Jack McConvey, Regina.

Following are the pairings: Marcell, Ontario, and Henry Gordon B. Kaylor, Quebec, and Ken Black, British Columbia; Paul Allen, Bost, Manitoba; and Ken Black, British Columbia; Edward Blaylock, Saskatchewan, and J. Zouppre, Kirkland Lake, Ont.

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy
ON VENTRILLOQUISM

Do You Want To Become a Ventriloquist?

L'ESON No. 12. "So we have company this morning. I commented to Charlie as I turned to greet the family from next door."

"Well, Bergen," he said, "I decided what I need around this place is a new maid and I've appointed these people as my brain trust."

"Oh, come on, Bergen," Charlie smirked, "what use is a maid without a brain to drive her?"

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1938.

MAN HAS USED MONEY IN ONE FORM OR ANOTHER SINCE THE DAWN OF CIVILIZATION. COINS CAME INTO USE THREE THOUSAND YEARS AGO, AND TODAY ARE USED ALL OVER THE WORLD.

COWRIE SHELLS, TAKEN FROM MOLLUSKS, WERE ONE OF THE FIRST WIDE-SPREAD FORMS OF MONEY, AND PROBABLY SERVED MORE PEOPLE AS A MEDIUM OF EXCHANGE THAN ANY OTHER TYPE.

THE SOUTH SEA ISLANDS OF YAP BOAST THE LARGEST OF ALL COINS. THEY ARE MADE OF STONE, AND WEIGH SEVERAL HUNDRED POUNDS.

IN ALASKA, FISHHOOKS ONCE SERVED AS LEGAL TENDER AMONG SEACOAST NATIVES.

SLAVES, BEADS, SALT, LIVE STOCK... ANYTHING THAT MAN RECOGNIZED AS A VALUE DESIRED BY OTHERS... SERVED AS MONEY. THE PELT OF A BEAVER WAS JUST AS GOOD AS METAL COINS TO THE AMERICAN PIONEERS.

THE QUEST FOR GOLD AND SILVER, TO BE COINED INTO MONEY, LED TO THE EXPLORATION AND SETTLEMENT OF WESTERN AMERICA, SOUTH AFRICA, AND AUSTRALIA.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

AFTER TUGGING FURIOUSLY AT THE ROPE OVER THE SIDE OF THEIR SHIP, OUR TRIO IS STARTLED TO SEE...

MY GOSH! IT'S A CHEST! THE TREASURE CHEST!

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

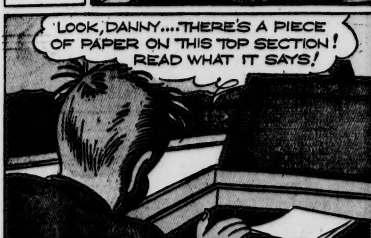

BOY, THAT'S SOMETHIN! WE FOUND IT WITHOUT ANY TROUBLE!

IF IT'S WHAT WE THINK IT IS, WE'LL BE RICH, BOYS... RICH!

COME ON, DANNY... HURRY! BUST OPEN THAT LOCK!

KEEP YOUR SHIRT ON... IT'S COMING! NOW CLOSE YOUR EYES AND HOLD OUT YOUR HANDS!

'LOOK, DANNY... THERE'S A PIECE OF PAPER ON THIS TOP SECTION! READ WHAT IT SAYS!

LISTEN TO THIS! 'DID YOU FALL FOR THAT TREASURE GAG TOO?' SIGNED: 'JOE WHEELER' (OCTOBER 1934)!

WHAT DOES IT MEAN? SEE WHAT'S UNDER THAT TOP SECTION!

'THAT OLD FOOL WHO SOLD IT TO YOU' SOLD ME ONE TOO!' SIGNED: 'EDWARD OLSON' (NOVEMBER 1935)

HERE'S ANOTHER NOTE!

IT SAYS: 'I BIT ON IT TOO!' SIGNED: 'ROGER CUPPY' (AUGUST 1936)

HERE'S ONE TOO, SIGNED BY A GUY NAMED 'GUS DOW'!

IT SAYS: 'IF YOU BIT ON IT TOO, LEAVE A NOTE IN THE CHEST AND TOSS IT OVERBOARD AGAIN FOR THE NEXT SUCKER!'
